NeoSAL is a swab based collector where a collected saliva aliquot is inserted into a buffer solution and transported to the testing laboratory.

Alternatively:

The Greiner Saliva Collection System employs a mouth wash based technique which generates in situ two discrete samples, satisfying the European Workplace Drug Testing Criteria for an A and B sample requirement.

Our leak resistant containers have been tested for binding properties against major drugs of abuse testing targets such as marijuana and cocaine to ensure optimum test results.

The lid of the vial is attached to the container via a permanent hinge.
